WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A broad investigation of the ownership and control of public utilities and their holding companies operating in interstate commerce was ordered today by the house. The investigation will run the entire scale from electric and gas companies to radio, telephone and telegraph, aviation, pipe line and motor bus operations.

The interstate commerce committee was directed to make the inquiry with a view to determining whether there is a necessity for legislation to place public utility holding and investment trust companies under federal regulation.

Action came after an hour of debate in which Chairman Rayburn, of the interstate commerce committee, said that some time soon an effort would be made to place the utility companies under federal regulation and that his group wanted correct information on which to base the law.

Protests against the investigation were made by Representative Cooper of Ohio, and Underhill, of Massachusetts, on the ground that it would entail expense. Rayburn said information on who actually owned the utility companies was necessary before his group would proceed.

Representatives Purnell, of Indiana; Maples, of Michigan; and Hoch, of Kansas, supported the measure. Rayburn indicated that petroleum pipe lines operating in interstate commerce also would be probed and the necessity for this was stressed by Hoch, sponsor of a measure to divorce the lines from oil producing and refining companies.

The interstate commerce committee last year completed an exhaustive investigation into railroad holding companies upon the recommendation by the interstate commerce commission. It was found that rail consolidations were effected through holding companies despite adverse rulings of the commission.

As a result, Chairman Rayburn has introduced in the house a bill to place railroad holding companies under the jurisdiction of the commission.

Rayburn announced that the probe would be completed by the end of this session of congress. He introduced a resolution to authorize $50,000 for the inquiry.

Broad authority granted the interstate commerce committee under the resolution is for "the purpose of obtaining information necessary as a basis of legislation."

The committee is directed to investigate:

Hoover No Millionaire,
Wood Tells Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP) President Hoover's private fortune was estimated at less than a million dollars in the house today by Representative Wood, of Indiana, the chairman of the republican national congressional committee.

Wood is ranking republican member of the house appropriations committee. He opened the debate on the agriculture department's $175,000,000 supply bill for the next fiscal year with a demand for a reduction in salaries of government employees.

Asked by Representative Shannon, democrat, Missouri, whether President Hoover would approve a reduction in his salary, and what was the extent of the chief executive's private fortune, Wood answered:

"He has made a lot of money, but he has given it away. My information, from a reliable source, is that the president today is not worth a million dollars."

Mississippi Adds
To Flood Threat,
57,000 Homeless

Red Cross Takes Complete Charge of Relief Work in Ever-Widening Area of Suffering.

GLENDORA, Miss., Jan. 19.—(AP) Flood fagged residents of the delta country who have already endured five weeks of high water today were threatened by a flank attack from the Mississippi.

Meantime the Coldwater, Tallahatchie and Yazoo rivers spread over additional acreage through crumpling north and central delta levees with estimates of those driven from their homes running to 57,000.

Until today the Mississippi has remained neutral in the drive of the north and middle delta streams in which the water has overrun levee defenses at a dozen strategic points in seven counties.

The estimate of 57,000 homeless was made in the Memphis (Tenn.) Evening Appeal which listed refugees as follows: Tallahatchie county 10,453; Quitman 4,300; Panola 9,120; Leflore 15,000; Holmes 4,105; Humphreys 5,230.

Humphreys county was the center of the menace today with Belzoni, a thriving town of 7,500, threatened by waters from a 60-foot gap which the Yazoo pounded in the Honey Island levee north of there last night.

Laborers and convicts fought desperately to close the crevasse. A strip of 40 miles long would be flooded should the whole dyke there give way.

Answering the distress call of 45,000 or more flood sufferers in the Tallahatchie valley, the national Red Cross and the coast guard stepped in tonight and took complete charge of rescue and relief.

Locusts, which have been shrouding thousands and rescuing thousands of others in haphazard manner, breathed easier after reinforcements had arrived and organized workers had gotten into the battle against dire want.

Victims of levee crashes in the six counties of the delta where the 200-mile flood stretches will be removed to safety by a fleet of coast guard craft in charge of crews under command of S. B. Johnson, commander of the Great Lakes coast guard district.

Election of Williams as

To Purge Official Ranks
in Georgia of Negro.

BY R. E. POWELL.
Georgia's republican party, composed of many men of many shades of political opinion, went officially lily white Tuesday as the first preliminary move to holding the convention which will select delegates to vote for a party nominee at Chicago in June.

Signs of a movement to purge the party locally of the negro as a dominating influence were seen in a statement issued jointly by J. T. Rose, state chairman, and James W. Arnold, of Athens, national committee man, announcing the election of Wilson Williams, of Woodbury, succeeding Ben J. Davis as secretary of the state committee.

Davis' Activities "Separate."
"Davis," Chairman Rose explained, "is now on the national committee's pay roll; in fact, has been for some months. He is working among his own people in Chicago, New Jersey, Ohio and Massachusetts, and his activities are entirely separate from those of the state committee here."

Choice of Williams, postmaster of a district attorney because he is the son of Davis' connection with the national committee, follows a series of pow-wows in the party which were concluded shortly after the holidays when House, Clint W. Hager, United States attorney for the northern district of Georgia, and Edwin K. Large, Atlanta postmaster, were guests of M. O. Dunlap, of the city.

He said he was not opposing the action of congress in providing a "gigantic corporation to back the banks, railroads and insurance companies," but wished to stress the point that if congress contents itself with the passage of this legislation "and does nothing to relieve directly the distress and suffering of the unemployed, it will have failed in its duty to the American people."

The credit corporation "is bound to aid in the stimulation of business, particularly big business, and it will, doubtless, save the corporate interests, for the time being at least."

"But I have been wondering how long it would take for some of the crumbs of this enormous slice of cake to fall from the table . . . to the ragged and hungry in this country, who are actually suffering for the want of employment."

"Gratifying the necessity for such legislation it is apparent that in this enormous reconstruction corporation."

SCRIP PLAN VETO
BY KEY FORECAST;
CRISIS IS NEARER

Banks Oppose Move;
Mayor Said To Fear Loss
to Employees From 'Money
Sharks.'

Mayor James L. Key Tuesday studied a proposal to issue scrip to the 3,500 municipal employees, as authorized Monday by council when it turned down the January finance sheet because of a blanket 10 per cent cut in salaries. Meanwhile, the fiscal condition of the city remained virtually unchanged, except that a crisis was nearer.

City hall gossip was that the mayor will not sanction issuance of such scrip unless he is assured that employees of the government will not fall victims of unscrupulous "money sharks." If he does fail to approve it, a special meeting of council may be called in an effort to pass some finance sheet and thus assure employees some relief.

A high official of a local bank, which is a member of the Atlanta Clearing House Association, Tuesday set out the position of the banks, asserting that the scrip, in his opinion, could not accept the scrip. This was believed to be an effective barrier to approval of the effort, inasmuch as the city would be asked to issue $200,000 worth of the paper for five months unless a balanced budget, demanded by the banks, is adopted.

Salary accounts of the city about $375,000 monthly, and the normal income of the city is only $275,000, exclusive of 1932 taxes. This would force a minimum of $300,000 worth of the paper on the market every 30 days even if the city paid only 10 per cent of the face value.

Councilman James L. White, chairman of the finance committee, who advocated the retrenchment budget Monday, Tuesday hurried a deft at these who have sold the city people.

"The 1932 finance sheet as presented by the committee provided for three things," he said. "It restored the city's credit, and paved the way for immediate borrowing of money to meet pay roll and other needs. If set up funds for paying merchants and manufacturers who have sold the city people."

"If its opponents have anything better to offer, now is the time for them to come forward. If they have not, they have voted for the fiscal year, which the finance committee drafted."

White Makes Stipulations.
Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, and one of the leaders in the opposition against the budget at Monday's council session, during which the recommendations of the finance committee were rejected by a vote of 15 against 10 for, Tuesday set out certain stipulations which he would support.

He shall continue to oppose a blanket 10 per cent reduction in salaries."

Repudiated Convictions, Says McBride of Murray

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(UP) Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, said today in commenting on Murray's regional "treaty" control plan among those states which want liquor, wine or beer, that the fiery Oklahoma governor had "repudiated his own convictions." The report continued:

"Various organizations against the prohibition amendment have been organized, led usually by those persons who drank, if they did not sell intoxicants in pre-prohibition days, and even in the highest legislative assembly in the nation it has been definitely declared that 'men will have intoxicating liquors, constitution or no constitution.'"

PARIS, Jan. 19.—(AP)—It appeared almost certain tonight that Premier Laval would seek a postponement of the Lausanne conference called for the purpose of determining what to do about German reparations.

The chamber of deputies, without any protest from the government, put off until Thursday the business of voting confidence in non-confidence in the new Laval ministry.

"La cabinet circles it was said it would be almost physically impossible for the French to get through parliamentary business in time to appear at Lausanne next Monday, the date tentatively set for the beginning of the conference."

The premier, appearing before the chamber for the first time with his new government, flatly declared that France will not forego her right to reparations from Germany. He spoke after Fernand Bouisson, president of the chamber, had said that unless the creditors of France remitted a corresponding portion of the French debts, Paris would refuse to give up any of the reparations due her. The United States is the principal creditor involved.

The premier's parliamentary bow with his third government was marked by scorching criticism from the left for what speakers called "dropping the bomb"—a reference to the fact that in the new cabinet lineup the "Apostle of Peace," who was foreign minister for seven years, has no place. M. Briand was not in his chamber seat.

While parliament was in session it was learned the United States had informed France, in connection with a proposal to extend the Hoover moratorium, that the question of payments on the French debt to America after

Of Rev. R. G. Smith

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A $50,000 damage suit for alleged libel and slander brought by the Rev. R. G. Smith, of Sports, Ga., against the Rev. E. V. Cole, former Dallas editor, was dismissed in federal court today.

Judge W. H. Atwell informed Mr. Smith's attorneys they might, if they desired, have until Thursday to file an amended petition for a new suit. The court ruled it was without jurisdiction because the petition failed to say the Rev. Mr. Cole was a citizen of Texas. The petition referred to him as a resident of Texas.

Part of the suit seeking $25,000 damages for alleged libel was ruled out yesterday by Judge Atwell. The litigation was an outgrowth of activities by the principals in the 1928 presidential campaign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The firm hand and genial forcefulness of Charles Gates Daves will guide the gigantic reconstruction corporation through its task of economic healing.

President Hoover announced today that the brusque and distinguished soldier-statesman-financier would head the agency. Meanwhile indications came from Capitol Hill that in a few days it would begin its work of applying $2,000,000,000 worth of soothing credit to the nation's business wounds.

The corporation all but had the final approval of congress. Conference committees have the task of harmonizing the few divergent views of the two houses on how the organization should function. Full agreement is not expected to be delayed.

To place behind the corporation the fullest measure of psychological support and public confidence, Mr. Hoover assigned the corporation's presidency to Daves at the cost of an important change in America's foremost diplomatic personnel.

Quits as Ambassador.
General Daves resigned as ambassador to Great Britain, effective immediately. He was to have served as chairman of the delegation to the Geneva arms limitation conference during its preliminary work.

Secretary Stimson will now take the post, but will be unable to attend the opening sessions of the conference. Until he arrives, Hugh S. Gibson, ambassador to Belgium, will be in charge of the delegation.

While President Hoover was telling correspondents of these developments today, other features of his program for lifting the nation to its normal economic plane were progressing.

The bill to increase the capitalization of federal land banks awaited only the formality of approval by a conference committee and then the house and senate before receiving his signature. The measure would bolster land bank funds by $125,000,000, with $25,000,000 of that amount earmarked for postponement of mortgage installment payments of needy farmers.

One phase of Mr. Hoover's plans for balancing the budget advanced in the house shortly after noon, committee, which announced it would have an increase bill ready for presentation by February 1.

A senate committee conducted hearings on the administration plan for a system of home loan banks to smooth

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 19.—(AP)—O. K. Allen, running for governor with the backing of Huey P. Long, incumbent, was 40,000 votes ahead of the opposition field on unofficial and incomplete returns at midnight in Tuesday's democratic primary election.

Huey P. Long said Allen would win by a majority of 58,000, but Francis Williams, manager of Dudley J. LeBlanc, leading opposition candidate, said the returns showed that a second primary would be held and that his candidate would win in that.

Unofficial returns from 381 precincts out of the total of 1,441 in the state stood: Allen, 77,961; LeBlanc, 21,562; George Seth Guion, 14,723; William L. Clark, 109; William C. Boone, 155.

The quake shook the earth in sea-like waves. Electric lights went out, adding to the terror of a screaming populace. The crash of breaking glass added to the tumult.

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 19.—(UP)—Emergency measures demanded by influential citizens to make Honolulu "safe for women" were delayed today while territorial legislators launched an ontological attack on the Anti-Saloon League.

Condemnation of the resolution adopted Monday by the Kentucky assembly, which memorialized President Hoover to effect the immediate release of Mrs. Grace Hubbard, a rescuee, Lieutenant Thomas H. Masie, and two navy men held here on charges of murder, rang out in both chambers of the territorial legislature.

"We ought to say a prayer for them," Senator James K. Jarrett shouted. "We ought to pray that they be enlightened."

The newspapers and press services have played up and played over time. They had a lot to do with what the Kentucky legislature is doing in "blackguarding" the reputation of Honolulu.

They allowed scurrilous articles telling the world that we are nothing but a gang of rapists. "Statements the navy has sent to

NANKING, TOKYO NEAR OPEN BREACH

China Meanwhile Hoping for Further Peace Action by United States.

By the Associated Press. China shortly will sever diplomatic relations with Japan, the Kuomintang official Chinese news agency announced in Nanking last night. Meanwhile Chinese officials hoped for further action by the United States in the Manchurian conflict. "A new Washington conference" to discuss such action was advocated by Sun Fo, premier of the Nanking government.

An official Chinese spokesman declared Japan had been "impertinent" to the United States and "insulting" in its reply to Secretary of State Stimson's note invoking the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg pact in the Manchurian affair.

Mr. Henry Pu-yi, former boy emperor of China, came back in the picture again by way of Shanghai dispatches reporting the Chinese government had decided to order his arrest. The order might be difficult to carry out as Pu-yi was named in the retirement from Port Arthur in Manchuria, far away from Chinese authority. Mukden dispatches said he was being advocated for the post of first president of the new Manchurian government to be established, if present negotiations are successful, with the advice and assistance of Japan.

RUTH UDD'S TRIAL STARTS IN PHOENIX

Fourteen Tentative Jurors Selected During First Day in Court.

BY RALPH O. BROWN. PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Udd, unperturbed by a hoisterously eager crowd which howled against the courtroom doors and howled when they were closed, sat in glacial calm today during questioning of jurors who may try her for the slaying of Agnes Leroy.

The only sign of nervousness displayed throughout the day by the woman who has confessed slaying Mrs. Leroy and Miss Hedvig Samuelson, last October 16 in Phoenix, was periodic flicking of a handkerchief across her lap. She will be tried first for the Leroy slaying.

At the end of the first trial session, 14 tentative jurors had been accepted. Five had been rejected.

Under Arizona law, a panel of 20 must be seated before either prosecution or defense may exercise peremptory challenges. From the tentative panel of 20, the defense peremptorily may remove 10 and the prosecution seven. Five had been rejected.

Counsel predicted the jury would not be complete before Thursday. All but a handful of the hundreds of would-be spectators who lined the sidewalks, were disappointed in their hope of gaining admittance to Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman's tiny courtroom.

That the original story of Mrs. Udd—in which she described an argument during which she shot the two women in self-defense—is not the true one, tacitly has been admitted by defense counsel.

George Warns Banks To Use Funds Solely for Industry

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Drawing a comparison of the record of bank failures in the United States and Canada, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, in a speech on the floor today expressed the hope that the new $2,000,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation now undergoing final stages of approval in congress will enable banking interests of the country to put themselves in a liquid condition and aid in general business recovery.

At the same time, however, he warned that if such institutions merely sit down in their liquidity and wait for business to recover as best it may, then the finance corporation will simply be a proposal for a vast expenditure of public funds for the benefit of those institutions in this country which are very largely responsible for present conditions.

"The investigation being carried on before the finance committee under the direction of the senators from California (Mr. Johnson) unquestionably discloses the reason for the vast and wild speculation that has gone on in the United States during the post-war period, not only with respect to foreign securities, but with respect to domestic securities, both stocks and bonds. At bottom, the period of speculation has been mainly induced because certain of the large banks of the United States have converted themselves into ordinary brokerage houses."

"Mr. President, if the statement which I am making to have inserted in the record correctly portrays the fact, to-wit, that since 1922 only one bank in Canada has failed against a total of failures of banks in the United States of 7,805, the American system stands under the most severe indictment of the world. We are, of course, all familiar with the fact that in Canada the continental system of branch banking has been developed, but, nevertheless, 'if these figures be correct the indictment against the American system is indeed severe.'"

The warning of Senator George against possible inactivity of banking institutions in the face of prospective $2,000,000,000 fund was delivered just as conferees of the house and senate prepared to meet for the purpose of ironing differences in the two bills. The figures he corrects are those of the conferees on the reconstruction finance corporation bill which is, indeed, severe.

BILL SEEKS END OF FARM BOARD OF WAGE CUT PLEA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Divergent views among congressional minds on the much-discussed farm board were seen today in moves to confirm three of its members, abolish it altogether and investigate it thoroughly.

The bill by Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, to do away with the board—one of several similar measures introduced at this session—came almost coincidentally with approval by the senate agriculture committee of three members to the agency.

They were the appointments of Frank Evans, of Utah; Sam H. Thompson, of Illinois; and William F. Schilling, of Minnesota, the first two serving under recess appointments, the latter a reappointment.

The house agriculture committee, meanwhile, named three of its members to discuss with the senate committee the advisability of giving the board and the entire agriculture situation an intensive joint scrutiny.

QUEEN SOPHIE'S BODY RETURNED TO ITALY

FLORENCE, Italy, Jan. 19.—(AP) Former Queen Sophie of Greece, sister of William Hohenzollern, came back today to the scenes of her exile and the royalty and deposited royalty of 25 or 26 million dollars, wherever she had been in the recent 15 per cent freight rate case indicated a figure "near 20 or 21 million."

The interstate commerce commission also reported an increase in net railway operating income from freight service of 44 per cent a net ton mile for 1925 to 1928, Robertson said, showing a great increase in the profit to the railroads out the work of each employee.

The argument that wages should be reduced because the cost of living was lower could not be accepted by the working man, Robertson said. The comparison made by the presidents was with living costs in 1913, and the spokesman said labor "could not permit" the standard of living of today to be compared with a time when the average laborer had only $2 a day with which to support his family.

DRY GROUP WARNS POLITICAL PARTIES SEEK WHITE MAN IN ADAIR MURDER

Anti-Saloon League Leader Says South Will Never Vote for Wet.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A statement that prohibition is not a partisan political issue was made tonight by the Anti-Saloon league in a six-point declaration of policy as its biennial convention closed.

The league reiterated opposition to recommitment, modification, repeal, referendum and beer. It said: "Repeal or modification are not for party platforms or party lines."

An assertion that the south would deny its support to any presidential candidate either personally or by running on a wet platform was made by A. J. Barton, chairman of the league executive committee.

Several speeches completed the league's convention at a banquet held at the Hotel Hamilton.

Applause interrupted Dr. Barton several times during his address on "What Dixie Will Do in 1932." Barton said: "It is well known and well understood by all thoughtful and observant people that prohibition was the chief issue in the 1928 campaign and that 'the religious issue was not the major factor.'"

He assailed statements by former Governor Cox, of Ohio, before the democratic Jackson Day dinner here. He quoted Cox as saying "that the people should call the preachers back to their pulpits so that the people may get the truth about prohibition."

"The south will not repudiate the moral and religious leadership of the pastors and ministers of the churches and of the people as represented by the churches. Another thing the people of the south will not do is to submit to the political domination and leadership of corrupt and infamous politicians who are nominally such as Tammany Hall. No candidate for the presidency can or will receive the support of the southern voters who come forth in the campaign with the clean name and smell of Tammany Hall upon him."

"The south will not give its support to any candidate for the presidency who is nominated on a wet platform or who himself is a wet platformer."

"If the south is forced to a choice it will stand in the future as it stood in the past, firm and true to its highest moral and religious principles, a great social, economic and moral issue and will cast its vote for a presidential candidate committed to the maintenance, protection and promotion of prohibition regardless of party label."

He said he wanted to warn all political party leaders that if they desired or expected southern support they must stand before the south with clean hands on the subject of prohibition.

Barton added he thought the south knew that recommitment would be a step toward repeal, and would not be "misled by the hue and cry about states' rights." He also said southern voters would not be deceived or misled by talk of a referendum.

LABOR ASKS BASIS OF WAGE CUT PLEA

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Railway workers asked the employers today to explain why they thought a 10 per cent wage reduction necessary.

Labor, said its spokesman at the railway wage reduction conference, was unwilling to accept an argument for wage reductions either the claim of "inadequate return" or comparisons of the cost of living.

Instead, the union delegation suggested detailed explanations of what the needs of the railroads to meet their fixed charges and to maintain credit.

"If the railroads desire the employees to give careful consideration to the financial arguments in favor of wage reduction," David B. Robertson told the rail presidents, "it would be advisable for the railroads to present a complete compilation of what they regarded as important statistics."

The presidents agreed to submit such figures and the fifth session of the negotiations, the shortest meeting thus far, adjourned after an hour and 15 minutes.

Robertson, head of the firemen's brotherhood and leader of the entire labor group, revealed after the meeting the details of his reply to the carriers' plea for a voluntary 10 per cent wage cut for one year.

The union leader said Daniel W. O'Leary, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, is making the presentation of the wage cut proposal, and referred to the value of railroad properties as $25 or 26 billion dollars, whereas the railroads in the recent 15 per cent freight rate case indicated a figure "near 20 or 21 billion."

The interstate commerce commission also reported an increase in net railway operating income from freight service of 44 per cent a net ton mile for 1925 to 1928, Robertson said, showing a great increase in the profit to the railroads out the work of each employee.

The argument that wages should be reduced because the cost of living was lower could not be accepted by the working man, Robertson said. The comparison made by the presidents was with living costs in 1913, and the spokesman said labor "could not permit" the standard of living of today to be compared with a time when the average laborer had only $2 a day with which to support his family.

REFERENDUM PROPOSAL TO BE HEARD FEBRUARY 16

The judiciary committee today decided to consider on February 16 the referendum proposal of the organized house members opposed to prohibition.

It calls for a constitutional amendment which, if ratified by the people through conventions called for the purpose, would give the states control over liquor.

The federal government would regulate liquor in interstate commerce. Shipments from wet states into those having prohibition would be prohibited.

Meanwhile several members of the house anti-prohibition bloc testified before a senate committee today in favor of bills introduced by Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, proposing that 4 per cent beer be legalized.

Among them were Representative Dickstein, democrat, New York; Representative Sweeney, democrat, Ohio; Representative Cochran, democrat, Missouri; and Representative Sabath, democrat, Illinois.

Sabath said no other city in the nation had suffered as much as Chicago from prohibition, adding it was one of the most law-abiding and sober places in this country before enactment of the eighteenth amendment.

Dickstein said an army could not enforce prohibition and urged the return of beer.

TWO NEGROES JAILED IN HOLDUP OF STORE

HARVEY GARRISON, negro, of 156 Harris street, was arrested Tuesday night by police on a charge of suspicion of having robbed Al Mislow, manager of the Dave Shaffer Grocery store, at the corner of Piedmont avenue and Harris street, of more than $100 in cash. A negro woman, Willie Mae Jordan, of 178 Harris street, later was arrested in connection with the robbery.

Mislow told police that the bandit cut off all the lights in the store by an outside switch and held him up in the dark. The grocer called the police, and in a few minutes Garrison returned to the store, several negro witnesses identifying him as the robber. No money was found on the negro. The woman was thought to have helped dispose of the money, officers said.

Russell Speaks at Opening Of New Georgia Highway

poration cannot help the poor, unless the man at the top of our financial structure has his cup full to the point of overflowing and thereby permits the man at the bottom to receive a few drops.

The governor, addressing thousands of cheering Georgians at the end of a motorcade from Savannah to Statesboro and return, expressed the hope that "those who handle this fabulous amount of credit will see that some of the benefits thereof are shared by the struggling unemployed before it is too late and this unfortunate class has succumbed to privation or starvation."

He said no state in the Union had shown "a more rapid advance in the work of its highway system during the past months than has Georgia. In the past our progress has been slow in comparison with that of some of our sister states who floated huge bond issues to expedite the building of roads. But when we consider the difficulties with which these states are now laboring, as a result of these bond issues, our citizens are of one mind in proclaiming the virtues of the 'pay-as-you-go' system."

The opening of the new road, he said, had a peculiarly happy meaning. "For we see in it a ribbon of concrete which ties old Savannah, with its fine traditions, history and culture, to our fellow citizens of the coastal plains and hills."

The governor said he regarded it as "most fortunate" that the recent Georgia legislature decided against diversion of highway funds for other purposes, since the state had been enabled to build roads at a time when materials were cheap and at the same time providing a means of livelihood to numerous citizens.

Urges Public Works Program

"I am so firmly convinced that the most substantial relief which can be afforded in any efforts at unemployment relief is an enlarged program of public works that I recently took the liberty of writing all the representatives from Georgia in the national congress, urging them to endeavor to obtain an additional federal appropriation of at least $200,000,000 for highway construction in the country."

try, to commence at once." He said the idea struck a responsive chord with most Georgia congressmen, but that the present administration apparently is "bitterly opposed to any effort to afford unemployment relief directly by the federal government."

He said it may have been necessary to grant a one-year extension on war debts to "hold the world together, but I am a great believer in the axiom that charity begins at home and, rather than have one American citizen, who freely gave that the after-war debts might be made, suffer for the want of a job, I would have demanded every dollar of this money, even though we were accused of demanding the pound of flesh, to provide for the unemployed of this nation."

The governor said that the house amendment to the reconstruction finance corporation bill, providing that 10 per cent of the total should go to the agricultural finance corporation was a "sop to the distressed agricultural interests. Of course, we all know that the farmer in most dire need of help has no credit with the agricultural finance corporation or anyone else."

"I will predict in passing, however, that when the congressional campaigns open this spring . . . 10 per cent of the campaign oratory will be devoted to the 90 per cent of this tremendous credit that goes to the railroads and insurance companies, and the remaining 90 per cent will extol the virtues of the vote that secured the 10 per cent aid for the farmer."

Expressing the belief that the heart of the masses of America "is as sound and devoted to our country as it has ever been," the governor said the "only communism to fear in this country is the communism of empty stomachs and naked backs."

In addition to the governor, Chairman J. W. Barnett, of the state highway board; Brigadier General Harry Lee, of the marine corps, Parris Island, S. C.; W. C. Verren, of the highway board; and J. P. Wilhoit, new member of the highway board; Peter E. Nugent, president of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce; Ferris Cann, representing Savannah Beach; Mayor Thomas Hoynes, of Savannah; George W. Tiedman, representing Chatham county, and R. J. Kennedy, of Statesboro, were among the other speakers.

Tonight Governor Russell was honored with a reception, which was followed by a governor's ball.

55 Autos in Motocade

The motorcade left Savannah at 9:15 o'clock this morning for Statesboro, with 55 automobiles in the vanguard. At Statesboro, the procession was joined by cars from that place and farther upstate places along the route, and the combined motorcade headed from there direct to Savannah and Savannah Beach for the dedication exercises and oyster roast. Governor Russell traveled with Judge George W. Tiedman, chairman of the Chatham county commissioners. Accompanying him were Mayor Thomas M. Hoynes and Judge Tiedman, who sat in the rear with him and General W. L. Grayson, chief of the governor's staff, who sat in front in uniform.

The parade was preceded by a motorcycle escort of six county and four city policemen. In the front car was S. N. Harris, marshal of the motorcade and party. In the second car was Harvey Granger, chairman of the good roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce and general chairman of arrangements for the celebration.

Then came the governor's car, followed by cars bearing members of his staff, including Lieutenant Colonel A. Sidney Hanson, Major, Lieutenant Colonel Weaver D. Bridges, Athens; Lieutenant Colonel Thomas B. Neely, Toccoa; Lieutenant Colonel Harry G. Thornton, Elberton; Lieutenant Colonel James Peterson, Soperton; Lieutenant Colonel Joseph S. Burgin, Buena Vista; Lieutenant Colonel Charles Beach Edwards and Lieutenant Colonel Julian Hartridge, Savannah. Riding in official cars with members of the governor's staff were J. P. Miller, vice president and managing editor of the Savannah Morning News, and William G. Suttie, managing editor of the Savannah Evening Press.

Lucius Meldrim, sheriff of Chatham county; Frank Marsh, sheriff of Effingham county; Horace White, sheriff of Bryan county; Joseph Tillman, sheriff of Bulloch county, and J. C. Cipple, sheriff of city court in Savannah, rode in Sheriff Meldrim's car.

Governor Receives Salute

At Fort Screven Governor Russell and the road-dedication motorcade were met by Lieutenant Colonel M. Wilson and Brigadier General Harry Lee. Governor Russell received a salute from the infantry and inspected a company of troops before proceeding to Savannah Beach. Islanders waved their greetings to the chief executive from the roadside and porches of cottages. The Savannah fire department band swung into "Dixie" as the governor and others ascended the steps to Tybeas pavilion.

GEORGIA BAPTIST STAFF IS NAMED

Election of officers, announcement of its complete medical staff for the ensuing year, and reading of annual reports showing that the institution during 1931 recorded a net profit notwithstanding increased charity work featured the annual banquet of the medical and surgical staff of Georgia Baptist hospital Tuesday night.

Dr. Dan Y. Sage, retiring staff president, asserted that Georgia Baptist in recent months has developed its facilities for treatment of cancer to such an extent that it now is prepared to treat all cancer patients in the city. Radium has been donated and experts have volunteered their services at all times to this work.

During 1931, the report by Dr. W. H. Major, chairman of the hospital commission, showed, 5,097 patients were admitted and treated free or partly free of charge; total gross income last year was $275,139.88, as compared with $269,447.57 in 1930; operating expenses in 1931 were only $241,547.81 as compared with $245,196.87 the preceding year; a gross profit of $33,592.27 was recorded in 1931 as compared with $24,250.70 in 1930, and a net profit of $3,578.58 was shown, compared to only $747.86 the year previous.

Barker, Franklin Lauded.

In his retiring address Dr. Sage paid high tribute to the work of W. D. Barker, superintendent of the hospital, under whose direction, the president said, Georgia Baptist has benefited both materially and in the enthusiasm instilled into the staff and personnel. Dr. Sage also lauded the work of former Superintendent J. B. Franklin, who was a guest at the dinner.

Deaths in Georgia Baptist last year were only 3.42 per cent of the total hospitalized. Of this percentage 2.6 per cent were surgical cases and only .2 per cent obstetrical.

Dr. Herschel Crawford was elected secretary of the hospital staff. Other elections were automatic elevations of

Prince Nicholas Plans To Reside in Paris

PARIS, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Prince Nicholas, of Roumania, and his fiancée, Princess Elena, were addressed as "prince and princess" today on Nicholas' orders. The orders indicated the prince had broken with his brother, King Carol, and did not intend to return to Bucharest.

Nicholas renounced his marriage to his bride, a commoner, at Carol's insistence, but arrived with her in cognate and established headquarters at a fashionable Paris hotel. It was understood the pair intended to live here.

Nicholas' designation of his wife as "princess" was taken to mean that he would not recognize Carol's right to declare the marriage invalid.

LACK OF JUDGMENT HIT IN COOLIDGE ARTICLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge says "a general lack of judgment" contributed to the present economic situation.

Writing in the American Magazine, the former president discusses conditions, praises the national banking system and denounces hoarders.

"It is impossible to point out any general moral lapse or widespread dishonesty," he says in treating the causes of the slump. "The most we can say is that there has been a general lack of judgment and widespread as to involve practically the whole country."

"We have found out that we were not so big as we thought we were. We were riding too high. We shall have to keep nearer the ground. We may not feel so elated but we shall be much safer."

"Our national banking system," he declares, "is as sound as generations of experience have been able to make it."

While absolute safety has been impossible to secure, he writes, "It is probably that the records of money deposited in properly regulated banks in this country would show over a series of years that it has been in the safest place to keep funds."

If anyone tried to draw their money, he says, all commerce would be reduced to barter and universal bankruptcy would prevail.

"Those who are engaged in hoarding currency are probably no safer as a class than those who keep their funds in the banks. They are injuring themselves and everybody else. They are in the position of not taking their part of the risks of life and are trying to make themselves safe by letting others carry their risks for them."

Georgia Tech Quintet Battles Mercer Bears Tonight at Macon; New York Commission Okays Schmeling-Sharkey Bout Plans

BREAK of the DAY!
By Ralph McGill

Atlanta baseball directors are scheduled to meet this afternoon and officially decide on the status of the baseball club and its manager for 1932.

The Constitution sports department has complete confidence in the committee which will act for the club and which will decide the manager for 1932.

Mr. Robert Tyre (Bobby) Jones, the greatest champion the sport world ever knew, writes, for the board of directors:

"You recognize, of course, that unfounded rumors and premature releases must be a great handicap to us in the conduct of our business. We regret them for the additional reason that they are misleading to the public. You may be certain that we are, ourselves, anxious that you make reports of all matters which we can afford to make public as soon as it is possible for us to give them out."

"It is hoped that a decision will be reached respecting the appointment of a manager for the baseball team for the coming season some time this week, possibly at a meeting to be held on Wednesday of this week. We think we are able to promise a written statement from the board of directors to be handed to all three newspapers around noon or shortly afterwards, on Saturday."

The Constitution sports department believes that Johnny Dobbs merits another chance but respects the right of the directors of the club to make any such change as they may deem wise. The Constitution has not and will not do other than comment without passion or bias on present status or future developments of the case.

The public will give the answer to the decision of the directors.

Anything that Bobby Jones recommends will receive the endorsement of this column and this department. He will not act in any manner which he does not deem for the best interests of the baseball club and Atlanta.

A JOKE ON THE BOOKIES.

This is a city where the only thrill of the turf must be had vicariously, by more or less surreptitious dealings with the boys known as the bookies.

The boys known as the bookies are to be found here and there in various places of business, most of which are blinds but which, now and then, are good businesses. The operators make books because they know which way the percentage runs and profit accordingly.

There occurred last week, however, a turf incident which had too little attention in the press. A gentleman named Baron Long, with goats or hides, as the boys say derisively, running at Agua Caliente, took the bookies over the jumps for a rather severe loss.

Now it would seem that this was entirely legitimate, since the bookies are not operating what is known as a legitimate business unless they operate at the track itself. And very few tracks allow bookies, the mutuels taking care of the wagering.

But what was the amazement of the sporting few to find that Baron Long and his goats were suspended from the Agua Caliente track because of the storm of protest from the bookies over the country.

It might be argued, of course, that if racing were legal in all spots wanting it there would be none of these bookies but then such is not the case.

HOW IT WORKS.

The custom in the east is that the bookies have agents at the tracks where the goats are running. On the day that Mr. Long decided he would have his little innocent fun with the bookies there was a horse named Linden Tree running at the Caliente track. Linden Tree was the favorite. This horse was quoted in the books over the country at 1 to 3 which are very slim odds indeed.

Now anyone who has been at a track has seen the figures change on the board opposite the long shot entries in the last few minutes before the horses go to the post and the mutuel windows close.

And the experienced watcher sighs to himself and says, "Oh, well, they are telegraphing it back."

Because as fast as the bookies, in their speaks or other places, receive bets on the long shots they telegraph it right back to the agent at the track who in turn puts it right in the mutuels. This is done because even at the most skillfully managed track a long shot will be booted home now and then. And if a bookie is caught with one of those wagers it pains him exceedingly.

In this fashion he insures himself against loss. The favorites, who win only now and then, pay close odds. The bookies can hardly lose because there are always six or seven horses in a race and a pay-off on only three of them.

MR. LONG'S PLAN.

Mr. Long, who had two horses in the race, did not bet on them. He wagered $1,000 on Linden Tree, the favorite. Mr. Long then idled by one of the windows of the mutuel office until just before it was to be closed.

He then inserted a fist full of money under the bars and bet it all on the other horses in the race. The window closed and the horses were away from the post. Obviously there was no time for his bet to be caught by the bookies who were banking on those odds of 1 to 3. Linden Tree won and instead of paying off at 1 to 3 Linden Tree rewarded his backers with a price of $21.40, the track odds.

Mr. Long lost the $3,000 he had bet on the other horses in the race but he won $9,700 on Linden Tree so he had a nice profit which he gave to charity. His joke on the bookies was payment enough. And Mr. Long promptly told the press about his little joke.

Despite the fact that the mutuel windows are there for the wagering of money and despite the fact that one may bet it as he chooses, there was such a howl from the bookies that the Caliente officials ruled Mr. Long off the track.

This was the first time the bookies have received official recognition from the legitimate tracks. From this angle it would appear that some of the track officials must have had reason not to like Mr. Long's little joke.

At any rate it is a very interesting story of the turf but of little interest, I am afraid, to this city which knows nothing of the wickedness of bookies or wagering on what the boys laughingly call the "Oat Burners."

JACKETS MEET MERCER BEARS IN MACON GAME

Russell's Five Real Opposition for Mundorff's Tech Team.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 19.—Georgia Tech's basketball team, which comes to Macon for the first time in years Wednesday night to play Mercer at the local auditorium, will find the 1932 Bear cagers fairly good opposition at the worst.

But at their best the Bears are real opposition for southern college teams. Judging by their four home appearances, however, Luke Russell's boys have a penchant for off and on nights and just when you think the Yellow Jackets will catch them they will be known later.

Without a day of practice, the Mercer quintet opened its season on Macon January 15 by playing the Chattanooga Moccasins in a two-game series. The first night the Bears were ragged and lost, but the second night they came back and won handily. Luke Russell called official practice January 6 and drilled his proteges until January 15, when they met the Celtics here.

GOOD AGAINST CELTICS.

Against the Celtics the Mercers appeared to be in great form, giving the champions as good opposition as any college team probably could have. The Celtics won, 54-46.

The next night the Bears played Atlanta "Y" and put up a miserable exhibition, losing by 15 points.

Jimmy Wilkes, who for two seasons was the running mate of the brilliant Peggy Campbell at forward, is having a difficult time trying to find a running mate. Campbell graduated last June. Coach Russell has tried "Red" Marshall, a scrub guard of last season, Julius Gholson and Chandler in the other forward position. None of them seems to fit in exactly thus far, although Marshall has been doing pretty good lately.

SCORING ACE.

Wilkes is the scoring ace of the team. The tiny fellow, who covers the floor swiftly and gracefully, rarely misses a shot around the foul line. Against the Celtics he scored 20 points and against Atlanta "Y" he garnered 19.

Bob Smith, the big football player who was injured last season, is playing basketball. Smith jumped center last year, but Coach Russell has shifted him to back guard this season and he moved Nat Rosser, a lanky sophomore, to the pivot berth.

Rosser has improved with every game and apparently is a fixture. He is six feet four inches tall and weighs about 210.

Joe Lusk, another sophomore, has been filling the other guard position creditably. Joe is a good long shot, an alert defensive man, and probably the fastest foot man on the Mercer quintet.

COMPETITORS.

"Cotton" Harrison and "Sweet" Olson are in competition with Smith for the back guard position. Jake Trommerhauser has been doing well at forward.

Ernie Zinkowsky, sophomore forward, who was expected to take Campbell's position, recently was ruled ineligible because of studies. Zinkowsky would have filled in, probably, with Wilkes better than any of the others. Ernie has been making up class work at forward.

The appearance of Tech here is anticipated with enthusiasm. Three Macon boys—Hug Gooding, Jimmy Slocum and John Pool—are on the jacket squad.

Jackets Leave

For Macon Today.

A squad of 12 Georgia Tech basketball players will leave Atlanta at noon today for Macon, where tonight the Yellow Jackets will play the Mercer Bears.

To mark the first time Tech and Mercer have met in basketball in seven years.

There is considerable interest in the game over the state, as three members of the Tech team are Macon boys. They are John Pool, guard; Hug Gooding and Jimmy Slocum, forwards.

Coach Roy Mundorff, of the Jackets, stated last night that he expected the game to be close. Tech has defeated Vanderbilt, Florida and Benning to date and dropped a close two-point game to Auburn. Mercer has a good record also.

The following Tech players will make the trip: Perkins, Gooding, Pool, Slocum, McCathur, Davis, Mathes, Korf, Katz, Van Houten, Parry and Payne.

Tech's starting lineup probably will consist of Gooding and Katz, forwards; Perkins, center; Pool and McCathur, guards.

Triangles Defeat

LaGrange, 47-29

The Y. M. C. A. Triangles had a battle on their hands for a half last night, but in the latter part of the game flashed an offensive that carried them far ahead of the LaGrange 47 to 29.

At the end of the half was 19-all and the LaGrange quintet had been very much in the game. Going into the last half, however, the Triangles found the basket consistently to ring up a safe lead.

Copeland, LaGrange center, was high point man with 16, while Phillips, York and Fincher led the scoring for the Triangles. Corner, LaGrange substitute, formerly played with Atlanta A. C.

SMITHIES BEAT AGGIES IN PAIR

Boys' High Fives Divide Two With G. M. A. Cadets.

Tech High and Boys' High were winners Tuesday in the opening of the Big Six basketball league. Tech High defeated Monroe Aggies, 37 to 23, and 23 to 13, in a double-header on the Henry Grady court as Boys' High and G. M. A. broke even in afternoon games. Boys' High variety won, 32 to 22, and the Cadet B team won, 25 to 18.

Starting strong with a couple of field goals in the first minute of play, Tech High continued to pile up points and was leading 17 to 8 at the half. Monroe came back strong in the second half and closed on the Smithies but could not overcome the nine-point handicap.

Pittman and Copeland led the attack for Tech High, while Mock and Farmer were outstanding for Monroe. In the B game, Tech High was master throughout. Hilley and Wilson were high scorers while B. Brown was best for the losers.

Boys' High and G. M. A. broke even in a double-header marking the opening of the Big Six basketball league Tuesday afternoon on the College Park court. Boys' High won the variety game, 23 to 22, and G. M. A. won the B game, 25 to 18.

Except for the final quarter, the variety game was nothing spectacular, and there were few moments of excitement. The passing was very inept and there were few chances at the baskets.

The half ended with the score tied at 10 points each.

In the B game, Willis with 12 points was outstanding for G. M. A. He was ably assisted by Anthony at center, and Fuller and Rice at guards, while Ahlemann, Regenstein and Crab played best for the losers.

Decatur Retains

Lead of N. G. I. C.

Decatur High retained leadership of the N. G. I. C. basketball league with a 16-to-9 victory over Commercial High Tuesday night at Decatur.

The game was featured by the excellent passing and defensive play of both teams. Decatur led 8 to 6 at the half and held Commercial to three points in the last half, while McKinley and Anderson broke loose and ran the score up to 16 points for the winners.

LONDOS BEATS SUN JENNINGS IN TITLE BOUT

Great Crowd Sees 'Jeem' Take Straight Falls; Znoski Wins.

Kit Carson Londos wrecked the hopes of the Cherokee nation's representative, "Blue Sun" Jennings, Tuesday night at the auditorium, winning the wrestling match in straight falls with body slams and body blocks, to keep his title intact.

The crowd was in rare form. Some of the great crowd of 5,000 people who jammed the auditorium wished someone could be found who could make it interesting for the champion. So do all the promoters. Ray Steele, Jim McMillen and all the others have failed. Londos hasn't lost a fall in more than two years.

Londos won the first fall in 41 minutes after some beautiful action. It came with a series of body slams. The mat was not padded and the heads of the wrestlers were injured considerably. Jennings was dazed after the first fall and had little or no stamina left.

The crowd was amazing. More than 500 people were turned away. They saw probably the greatest athlete in the world at work in beating the young Indian. It was an indoor record.

"I worked hard and fast," said Londos after the first fall. "The only way to get rid of these tough youngsters is to give them all you have as quick as you can."

In the semi-windup Steve Znoski of Boston, defeated Jack Zarnos, of Alabama. This match was hard-fought all the way.

Another match was announced for next week. Matchmaker Henry Webb said he was handling the great crowd well and promise another all star card for next week.

BASEBALL TALK HOLDS INTEREST

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Baseball talk was revived up in Montgomery tonight as representatives of eight prospective members of the Southeastern league gathered here for the organization meeting (tomorrow).

Harry F. Thompson, temporary chairman of the league, said today everything pointed to speedy completion of organization, and that some members already were making training camps.

Cities to have representatives here are Jackson and Meridian, Miss.; Pensacola, Fla.; Macon and Columbus, Ga.; Selma, Ala.; and Montgomery, Ala. This includes four members of the old Southeastern as a nucleus around which to build the new league.

Judge W. G. Bramham, of Durham, N. C., for years president of minor league circuits along the Atlantic seaboard, and now chairman of the committee of five to have charge of minor leagues for the National Association of Organized Baseball, will be present to assist in the organization.

Names familiar to local fans of the territory covered already are being mentioned, among them Frank Kohlbecker, who will represent Meridian, and the names of the players who will come here as Mobile's spokesmen.

Thompson said today that, from information available, he saw no reason why the circuit could not be organized tomorrow and plans launched for the season.

Three of the prospective clubs have practically completed arrangements with clubs in higher class baseball for financial and player assistance, and two others are believed in a position to become affiliated with various alma maters in the fall.

THE SPORTLIGHT By Grandland Rice

The hard who once sang, "What Is So Rare as a Day in June," carried an extensive vision. When Max Schmeling agreed to meet Jack Sharkey under June skies he gave that month one of the busiest sporting calendars on the list.

In addition to the long-delayed meeting of Schmeling and Sharkey, the United States open championship will be settled in June. There will also be the boat races, which, in addition to settling college titles, will have an important bearing on Olympic selections. It is in June that the pennant races begin to take shape and form as the weaker brothers begin to skid. June, in fact, will be loaded to the gunwale with one thing and another.

Schmeling finally realized that he had to meet Sharkey sooner or later to settle an old argument—to prove that as heavyweight champion he could stand up and beat Sharkey as well as take a decision from the dust of the floor. It is the one fight that just at this spot means something—and about the only one that could mean something.

Contract signing is always a just-time matter, but a contract was presented in the case of professional football.

The pro grid game is in its long dresses stage, with the magnificence of trouble convincing the players that modest salaries will nurse the enterprise along and perhaps some day lead it into the green pastures where the baseball players graze.

E. L. Lambeau, coach of the Green Bay Packers, the professional football champions, who, by the way, can give you about as feverish and yet craftsmanlike an afternoon's entertainment as you'd wish, has just signed two of 1931's brightest stars, the Holy-Poly Herman Hickman, of Tennessee's well-killed eleven, and Clark Hinkle, of Bucknell.

Simply Signed.

The demonstration in this case is simply that the news rated about one paragraph down at the bottom of the column, and there was no fireworks report of the thunderclouds which rolled down the faces of these master athletes as they surveyed Lambeau's idea of just remuneration. In short, they signed.

I may be wrong, as Jimmy Savo used to say, but I've an idea that just as many people were interested in the amount of money that Hickman and Hinkle will receive, granted it will be a fraction of what Bill Terry and Babe Ruth are muttering about as is fabled in the legend over the hall players' contracts.

The public at large doesn't seem to care how footballers are paid, or how much. Is it by the game, with money doled out in proportion to the number of the lineup? Or is it by the season?

The Red Sox lighted no bonfires in the 1931 campaign, but they rose in Brooklyn is a good old club to have in the leagues, for its novelty. Just now the Dodgers are showing an all-southpaw hitting outfield, composed of Babe Herman, Lefty O'Doul and Johnny Frederick. But this will be changed if Max Carey succeeds, for he wants at least one right-side swinger to use against southpaw pitching. All the clubs have been saving their portlands for the Robins.

The St. Louis Browns, under eclipse with a world's champion team sharing the neighborhood, envy the Dodgers, for the former could use a doctored right fielder, not to mention a good smart hitting infielder. They had Kress groggy from playing all the positions in the lineup, save the battery posts and second base, where Malillo needed a nudge's help.

New Rule May Cramp Style of Our Coaches

State Prep Schools Send Up Plenty of Talent; Butts Did Best Job.

By Jimmy Jones.

That anti-subsidizing rule the Southern conference put into effect, forbidding our college coaches saying little more than a polite "howdy-de-do" to a prep school football celebrity, may become a little awkward along toward the idea of September. It may become so awkward, in fact, that some original person will introduce a little flexibility into the matter, for our college coaches simply adore talking to the prep school boys about their troubles, particularly around the month of September.

It's a sort of fatherly trait, you know, and there is no law on the statute books against being fatherly—ahem, and a couple of ahems.

For this reason, our dear college coaches should be pardoned for growing a bit more fatherly in the month of August and then growing more fatherly on each succeeding day. Someone must talk to these prep school boys before they fly off the handle and do something foolish.

It seems that Georgia's preparatory and high school circles are going to send out a bevy of sons to become affiliated with various alma maters in the fall. Madison, where Wally Butts coaches, has several athletes that would make wonderful subsidizing material, if subsidizing were permitted. Most any one could grow fat in their presence. There is a guard named Hine, whose first name, of course, would be Sam; a pitcher named Hines, and an end named Wagon that would cause One-Eyed Connolly to blink both eyes.

MAX ORDERED TO POST BOND BEFORE FRIDAY

Champ Must Also File Contract for Title Battle.

By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Max Schmeling made his peace today with the New York state athletic commission, and the price he paid was adherence to a promise made almost two years ago.

The young German, crowned heavyweight champion here after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium in June, 1930, promised to resume his feud with the Boston sailor before July 1, a pledge he made after their first match, but never kept.

The commission, which took away his title recognition when he failed to keep his word a year ago, immediately lifted Schmeling's suspension to the extent of permitting him to negotiate a contract for the Sharkey match. This will be done by Friday, Max promised, and a $25,000 forfeit will be posted this time along with the legal papers.

While no promoter was mentioned at the commission, Schmeling already has settled on terms with Madison Square Garden for a 15-round engagement with Sharkey in one of the ball parks here in June.

The Boston warrior will arrive here Monday with his manager, Johnny Buckley, to sign the documents.

The conference today removed all prospect of a match between Schmeling and Mickey Walker.

Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs, plan an extended exhibition tour and a moving picture project in California this winter before starting training in the spring.

Members To Vote On Heavy Title.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(AP)—General John V. Clinan, president of the National Boxing Association, today sent out ballots to members of the organization, asking them to vote on the question of vacating the world heavyweight championship from Max Schmeling, of Germany, because of the latter's failure to defend or sign to defend his title within the six months' time limit.

Eleven athletes of the three New York clubs, who have not previously expressed themselves publicly regarding their 1932 signatures, were found pursuing various winter avocations. Five of them said they had signed, or would, three were dissatisfied with the terms offered them but not beligerently so. One would make no comment, and two said they had sent their contracts back.

The latest "holdouts" are Charles (Red) Ruffing, burly right-handed pitcher, and Bill Dickey, first-string catcher, of the Yankees. From Nook, Ill., Ruffing sent word he fired the proffered contract back at the Yankees. The same word came from Dickey, off on a deer hunting trip near Little Rock, Ark. Neither divulged the terms offered them.

Four Yankees who agreed with the terms of their employers were George Fingers

TIFT GIVES $100 IN VICTORY DRIVE

From Mrs. Susie Tillman Moore, of Tifton, the Georgia democratic victory campaign has received the first contribution of $100, Cam D. Dorsey, state chairman, announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Moore is treasurer of the Tift County Victory Drive Club and is prominently identified with the state organization.

"The whole state of Georgia," she wrote Chairman Dorsey, "is solidly in support of Roosevelt, and the great need at this time is to organize in each county a Victory Drive club and get to work and raise money to put the 1932 campaign over the top."

Officers of the Tift Victory Drive Club are T. J. Parker, chairman; Judge R. E. vice chairman; Mrs. Moore, secretary-treasurer; and W. W. Bryan, chairman of the Tift county executive committee and ex-officio member of the club.

College Students Will Collect Old Clothing for Needy Today

Mindful of Atlanta's army of unemployed, students at Agnes Scott College and Oglethorpe University set aside today to carry bundles of clothing to school to be collected by welfare organizations and distributed to the needy.

With schools, business houses and individuals co-operating in the drive, "Bundle Week," of the United Clothing Campaign, entered the fourth day this morning with encouraging reports coming in from all sections. Georgia Tech, the first of the institutions of learning to enter the drive, collected clothing Tuesday. Other schools co-operating were Peachtree School for Boys, Washington Seminary, North Avenue Presbyterian School and others.

In order to facilitate the collection of garments, receptacles for the clothing were placed on the campus of each school.

Following the offer of Sunday to collect clothing, the Decatur Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company reported many calls in the Decatur, Druid Hills, East Lake and Emory University sections.

The P. J. Turner Transfer Company was one among others to offer the use of trucks for collection of apparel.

The Bach Dry Cleaning Company Tuesday volunteered to clean garments or the campaign.

From Rich's shoe repair department came an offer to repair all shoes free of charge before they are distributed to the jobless.

Mrs. Allison Thornwell, chairman of the campaign, reported Tuesday that a hearty response had been made by the public and that hundreds of garments were being received. She attributed the generous response to the work of those co-operating, the publicity in newspapers and on radio, and the tireless efforts of organizations to aid the needy.

"Bundle Week" will officially end Saturday.

GOOD TRADE BALANCE SHOWN BY GERMANY

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—(UP)—With imports cut sharply by drastic curtailment of goods consumption throughout the Reich, Germany's exports during 1931 exceeded imports by 2,414,000,000 marks ($617,780,000), compared with a favorable trade balance of 1,129,000,000 marks ($270,960,000) in 1930.

Exports for 1931 amounted to 9,204,000,000 marks ($2,209,440,000), against 11,329,000,000 marks ($2,719,960,000) in 1930, the lower total being accounted for by declining commodity prices. Imports last year were 6,632,000,000 marks ($1,591,680,000), compared with 10,200,000,000 marks ($2,448,000,000) in 1930.

BURNS THREATENS TO DESTROY PENAL SYSTEM OF STATE

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Robert Burns, escaped Georgia convict, told the United Press over the telephone today from "somewhere in New Jersey" that he would "never rest until he had destroyed the Georgia penal system."

Burns escaped from a Georgia chain gang once before, went to Chicago and in seven years worked himself up to be editor of a weekly magazine and then was turned over to authorities by a woman.

He waived extradition and went back to Georgia expecting to be released. Instead he was ordered to serve out the remaining 10 years of his term. Recently he escaped for a second time and now is a fugitive from justice.

"I went back to Georgia expecting to get off," he said. "They told me if I paid out $1,500 and stayed down there 90 days they would let me go. I did both and then when the 90 days were up they welched. So I got away again."

"How can I say what I will do tomorrow?" he countered. "I will never rest until I have destroyed the whole rotten penal system of Georgia."

GERMANY INCREASES AGRICULTURE TARIFF

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Germany's tariff barriers were raised today by an emergency decree designed to obstruct dumping of goods by countries with depreciated currencies, or those discriminating against German exports.

The decree, signed by President von Hindenburg, principally affects Danish and Dutch agricultural and dairy produce. Some quarters said the measure came a year too late because it had long been clear that other nations would resist increased importations of German-made goods.

U. S. 'HANDS OFF' IN POOLE CAR CASE

Federal prohibition officials who previously had admitted they were interested in the ownership of the Lincoln car driven by Policeman A. Douglas Poole, which crashed into a motor party of young south Georgians, causing two deaths, Tuesday announced abruptly that "the case is closed so far as we are concerned."

On Monday Deputy Prohibition Administrator H. P. Wright had revealed records showing that the car formerly had been the property of a convicted Atlanta run-runner, Walter Cutcliffe. This was followed Monday night by a blanket denial by Cutcliffe that the Lincoln ever was owned by him, and by the further development Tuesday in the assertion of Administrator Wright that his office was not investigating ownership of the car or the Poole case itself.

At Valdosta, where Poole and Policeman H. D. Gaines, his companion at the time the car crashed into a machine near Adel, Ga., 10 days ago, fatally injuring two young persons and hurting three others, the two prisoners were being held in jail, with court orders barring all visitors except relatives and legal counsel. The trial, which is expected to be held during the February term of Cook county superior court, will be on charges of murder in connection with the death of Miss Winona Patterson, first victim of the crash to die of injuries.

Hearing Postponed.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Terry H. Harper, known to the Chicago show world as "Peggy," charged with murder in connection with the slaying by her husband of Charles O. Holton, has been postponed until tomorrow.

Insurgents Bolt Wisconsin Senate To Force Action on Jobless Relief

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The progressive-republican wing of the state senate, comprising 13 members, bolted the legislature today and refused voluntarily to attend the session on unemployment relief until the conservative republicans are ready to act on what they consider an adequate relief bill.

The result was that the senate began the ninth week of the special session, called by Governor Philip F. La Follette, without a quorum and adjourned without transacting any business.

The sergeant at arms was busy tonight serving notice on the absentees that they must come back. If they are not in their seats tomorrow it is expected warrants will be issued for them.

The two factions of the republican party have been at loggerheads since the session began, and more so since the senate conservatives, with the help of three independents, killed two of Governor La Follette's unemployment relief bills, one for $17,000,000 and another for $10,000,000. Both bills provided for raising necessary funds by taxing dividends and sur-taxing other 1931 incomes at rates ranging from 1 to 30 per cent.

Counter proposals by the senate majority for increases in the regular income tax rates, with dividends and capital losses deducted, were killed by the progressive assembly.

During a week-end adjournment the conservatives sought to interest the governor in compromise negotiations but the empty seats of the progressive senators canceled today that nothing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Senator Cutting said today the American Legion and other service organizations are demanding the same relief measures for their widows and orphans as the veterans themselves received two years ago.

Martin's Summer

By Vicki Baum.

CHAPTER XVII.

"Listen to me, Herr Birndt," said Martin. "On the average, taking good weather with bad, I have earned two schilling thirteen groschen a day. There are about 40 days of my agreement still to run. Pay me a lump sum in advance of 80 schillings, and we're quits. At the lowest reckoning you will gain more than 20 schillings by it. The weather is good, the glass has gone up again, Herr Birndt."

"Yes," said Herr Birndt, "and suppose it rains for 40 days, I should be done in. I'll take no risks; that was our agreement."

"Fifty-five schillings for the whole time, Herr Birndt..."

"I'm taking no risks; that was the agreement."

"Fifty-three schillings," Martin said weakly. "It's a sheer profit for you."

"Yes, and if it rains? I'm taking no risks," answered Herr Birndt, with a bovine stupidity, as he swung his great belly into the office. Martin went away. He wandered despondently to and fro, looking for Anika, Anikuschka, Countess Czerny. It was not easy to speak to her alone; either she was accompanied by her greyhound friend and pseudo-husband, with his extremely distinguished and gallant air, or else Herr Lysenhop's spruce iron-gray head was seen at her side, not to speak of all the various Bobbys and Dicks and Freds who paraded their Anglick names and manners as they danced attendance on Anika at the exclusive Big Petermann.

In spite of this, Anika now and then escaped by herself to the beach and lay down on the sand beneath a large Japanese sunshade. On these occasions she wore a sort of subreptitious costume with taffeta flounces, and bathing shoes with crossed tapes. Never yet had a drop of lake water come near her.

"Here you are, thank the Lord, Anika, my darling Anikuschka, my dear first love," said Martin as he found her there after lunch lazily and very seductively lying at full length on the sand. "I've been looking for you, you must help me, it would be a mere nothing for you"—and then he put the whole situation frankly before her, telling her how he had pawned his dinner jacket and finally asking for a loan of fifty-two schillings.

Anika became excessively grave, almost sad. All the dimples vanished from her face. Lost in thought she looked abstractedly the rouge from her lips.

"And so Bulli's in trouble. Poor Bulli," she said, as she laid a hand caressingly on his ankle. Martin moved a little away from her. Anika sought every opportunity to touch him and to get close to him—probably without knowing herself that she did so, the little minx. And whenever she did touch him, a glow like warm sun ran down his spine, pleasant, but forbidden. For Martin now belonged to May, and was pledged to her body and soul, and it seemed to him a treachery to allow his emotions to be sidetracked. So he drew away, and Anika's hand fell to the ground and began drawing letters in the sand.

"No..." Anika said, she could not lend Martin anything, she hadn't three schillings herself in her little bag. To show him she shook it out into her lap. Powder-box, pencils, and a little crumpled silk handkerchief. When had Anika ever had any money, little vagabond as she always was? Surely Bulli knew that she was a scoundrel who could never keep money even when she had it?

Poor Bulli sighed. He ground his teeth in a portentous and alarming manner.

"Then get the money from your count. Please, Anikuschka, be a dear and do this for me," he implored her, feeling the gloomy of it in his very soul. He allowed Anika's shoulder to rest against him, and their knees to approach close together, since there was nothing else for it. "Anikuschka, help me. It would be nothing for your count to lend me a trifling like that," he begged, and he thought to himself—Oad, sponger, that I am. "No," Anika replied, and but obstinate. It was impossible, utterly and absolutely impossible. "Things weren't as he imagined them. It would not be a trifle for the count either. The count had his money troubles too, oh yes, and everything did not go so smoothly as it ought to do. Life in general was messy, rather funny, and Bulli was not to plague her and give her no peace, otherwise she would burst into tears."

At this she ceased drawing letters in the sand and took out her little handkerchief, and Martin drew back in astonishment and alarm. Before he could prevent her, Anika at once horrified and delighted him by kissing his bare arm where the little fair down showed on the tanned skin. In the sand in crazy letters could be read: "I love my Bulli!"

Martin lay down under the planks of the high diving platform, the only spot after lunch that afforded a little shade, and wondered who could lend him the 52 schillings. Among men he had only one friend, and that was Mats; the rest stood aloof. If they were not either arrogantly envious or violently jealous. They all had daughters, or fiancées, or wives, or girls, or some feminine adjunct, all of whom were apparently disturbed and endangered by the mere fact of Martin's existence.

Herr Lysenhop, it is true, sometimes displayed a friendly cordiality. He might clap him on the shoulder and ask: "Well and how goes business? Plenty of customers?" But this casual sociability scarcely encouraged Martin to ask for a loan.

A sense of pride that smarted at the idea forbade Martin to have recourse to Bobby, or Herr Direktor Wucherptennik, or others who were attentive to May. He even had a passing notion of Vesi, the waitress at the Schwoissackel, a buxom wench who made eyes at him, brought him his helpings, and had a well-fitted purse attached to her waist. But the thought of borrowing money from the strapping Vesi, always hot and in a hurry, was for some obscure reason unwelcome too. There was nothing left for it but to try the Mayraders. Dr. Mayrader looked good-natured and prosperous.

The next morning Martin strolled among the deck chairs and sat down beside Dr. Mayrader.

"Pamperl can now swim without assistance," Martin said by way of beginning. He flattered himself that he was this time making a skilful and diplomatic approach. "Pamperl can now swim without assistance..."

"Yes, that's splendid," Mayrader replied. "He only needs a little practice in diving and then he will be quite proficient."

"That's fine. Splendid," said Mayrader.

"It wasn't too easy to get Pamperl to swim. Quite a job I had with him," said Martin. "Your wife too has lot of difficulty with swimming."

"Indeed, you think so?"

"Yes, I do. Altogether it's no joke teaching swimming. It may look it, but it's nothing of the sort."

"No, I suppose not."

"Gives you a devilish appetite, standing on that gangway all day long. No one thinks of that."

"No, to be sure."

"Very poor pay too, very poor, Herr Mayrader."

"Indeed? I'm sorry to hear that."

"Very poor, and after all it takes some doing, but no one thinks of that..."

"Excuse me—pardon me—" said Herr Mayrader, as he looked uneasily round.

Martin drew nearer to the matter in hand. "Puts one in a tight corner very often, but I'm a born optimist. There are always such lots of nice people about. Herr Mayrader."

"Undoubtedly. Of course. But excuse me—auf Wiedersehen!" Herr Mayrader replied, as he hurriedly got up and went away. Martin sat a moment longer on the sand, whistling loudly and cheerfully to drown his disappointment. After that he swam the 30-meter course five times without achieving anything remarkable.

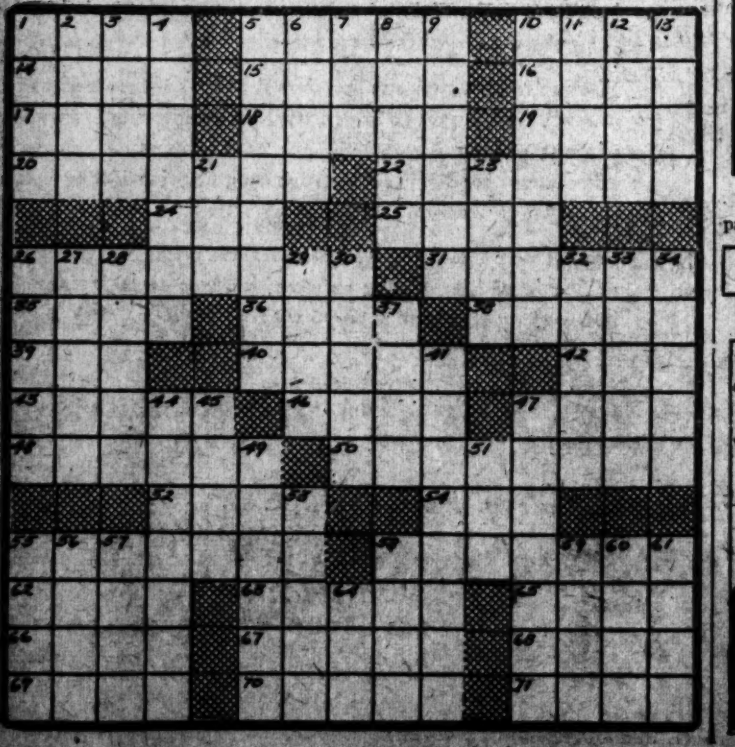

Herr Mayrader meanwhile had an urgent talk with his wife Pauline. (Copyright, 1932, for The Constitution.)

Noted Spanish Dancer Appears This Evening

Keen interest is being shown by Atlanta's artistic and cultural circles over the appearance here this evening at the city auditorium of La Argentina, famous Spanish dancer who will thrill a vast audience with her superb dancing. La Argentina recently closed her fourth successive season in New York for an extensive tour of principal American cities. Her Atlanta engagement will be her first in the south.

La Argentina has over 30 dances in her repertoire and each dance requires a special costume. Among the most beautiful of her costumes is the one in which she dances to the melancholy music of "Albino Cordoba." It is of white satin, the voluminous skirt trimmed with two deep rows of black Valenciennes lace, the bodice perfectly plain. A high-backed comb holds in place the black mantilla of priceless lace. The impression she conveys in this dance is one of indescribable desolation, a study in black and white of wordless sorrow.

Audiences marvel at the rapidity with which La Argentina changes her costumes between numbers. She may easily qualify as a "lightning-change artist" as well as the world's premier castanet player. These changes are made possible by a special dressing room constructed in the wings, where a maid is in attendance to facilitate the rapid change from one costume to the other.

La Argentina is the fourth attraction this winter of the All-Star Concert series, which previously has featured here, the Dan Cosulich, Lawrence Tibbett and Galli-Curci. Reservations for seats for this colorful event have been made by many pupils of Atlanta's dancing classes and their teachers. Among those who will attend are Mr. and Mrs. Senia Solomonoff and their entire dancing school.

FAT Does Go In This Easy Way

Millions of people, the world over, have learned in late years the right way to keep slender. To gain new beauty, youth and vigor. You see that everywhere. Excess fat and sluggishness are nowhere near so common as they were.

The great reason is this: Modern medical science has discovered a great cause of excess fat. It lies in a scanty gland secretion. Food which should create fuel and energy goes to excess fat.

Now doctors, the world over, supply that lacking factor. And note how conditions have changed. This right method is embodied in Marmola's famous world over, prepares them for this purpose. They supply this right method at small cost, in right form. Marmola has been used for 24 years, millions of boxes of it. It stands today, as always, the chief help in reduction. Now there are multitudes of people to testify what Marmola has done for them.

If your figure is abnormal, if your skin has become, go get Marmola. All druggists supply it at $1 a box. A book in each box gives the formula and explains the amazing results. Do what others have done—get the results they won. Don't wait longer—don't stay over-fat.

TARZAN THE TERRIBLE No. 105

In another moment, with the plunging of the sacrificial knife, Tarzan of the Apes would be no more! "Thus die the blasphemers of Jad-ban-Otho!" screamed the high priest—and at the same instant a sharp staccato note rang out above the silent, spell-bound multitude. There was a screaming whistle in the air and Lu-don crumpled forward across the body of his intended victim. Again the same alarming note and Mo-sar, the pretender, rolled down the altar steps.
